

Struthioniformes TAG Enrichment Feature

JULY - SEPTEMBER 2020

Gladys Porter Zoo

“Clementine” loved her fruit tree comprised of Natal plum, banana, and grapes! YUM!

Photo credit: Toni Torres, Associate Curator of Birds

Memphis Zoo

Dust bathing on a beautiful Memphis day!

Photo credit: Scott Kayser, Lead
Predator Keeper, Birmingham Zoo.

Jacksonville Zoo & Gardens

Brisbee investigates a paper bag stuffed with macaw feathers

Photo credit: Larkin Johansen, Senior
Bird Keeper

Brevard Zoo

“Pedro” the emu enjoys a swinging enrichment ball stuffed with delicious romaine

Video credit: Kristen Gagnon,
Zookeeper Lands of Change

Birmingham Zoo

This ostrich opted for a refreshing dip in the pool!

Photo credit: Annie B, Keeper

Nashville Zoo

“Neo”, Nashville Zoo’s first cassowary hatching, learning how to be a cassowary thanks to enrichment encouraging natural behaviors.

Congratulations to the Nashville Zoo bird team!

Photo credit: Kristi Watkins, Lead Aviculturist; Shelley Norris

Montgomery Zoo

Keeper and ostriches alike enjoy a painting session

photo credit: Kirby Pitchford, Aviculturist

Zoo Atlanta

In Memory of “Cecil” the Southern Cassowary. At 41 years old, Cecil was the oldest male cassowary in North America. His long life is a testament to the superior care he received. Cecil made a huge impact on all of his care givers throughout his years. He was a very special bird to many.